Using atlas data as a spatial reference for a result of a realistic neural network simulation